Media Release:

GoldNerds are here

The nerds have the numbers on ASX gold investments

For the first time, investors can compare the whole sector. There has never been an easy way to look at fundamentals so the ASX gold market has wildly differing valuations. It's ripe for a transformation.

Freakish Value

1. The largest Australian owned resource is $300/oz. But the second largest resource—also a producer and also in Australia, is under $30/oz.
2. Explorers range from $0/oz to $720/oz, and sometimes the underpriced ones are the biggest and closest to home.
3. Twenty companies have cash or investments worth more than their entire market cap.

I used to scour websites for fundamental information before I bought a share. GoldNerds is the dream source of all the data on the gold sector that I've been looking for over the last ten years. Now it's right at my fingertips."

David Evans -- Director, GoldNerds

The GoldNerds team is headed by a Dr David Evans—a true Rocket Scientist and top-gun programmer with six degrees in maths and statistics, including three from Stanford.

"Any Nerd would be in heaven. This is what happens when a math genius looks at the market."

Joanne Nova -- Director, GoldNerds

Investors Love It

"GoldNerds has saved me literally hundreds of hours. It's a phenomenal resource and a total 'no brainer' for any goldmining investor."

Marcus Blockey, Currumbin ,QLD

"I've spent the last few hours in absolute ecstasy (I know, I'm sick) at the wealth of information you've put into such an easy to use spreadsheet."

Nikesh Thakorlal, NSW
